

-> display : block

An element that has the display property set to block starts on a new line and takes up the available screen width.

-> margin :auto

available space on right and left is equally divided.